

Fellowship Announcement

Yablonsky

Postdoctoral Fellowship

From May 18, 2024 until Aug 13, 2024.

About IME and USP

The Institute of Mathematics and Statistics (IME) is a teaching, research and extension unit of the University of São Paulo in the areas of mathematics, applied mathematics, statistics and computer science. The University of São Paulo (USP) is one of the largest and one of the most important public universities in Brazil, one of the most important in Ibero-America, the Lusophone world and one of the most prestigious worldwide.

About the scholarship

The Yablonsky Postdoctoral Fellowship aims to attract young researchers from all areas of Mathematics, Applied Mathematics, Statistics or Computer Science who have completed a doctorate in other institutions of excellence and recognized in the area, to develop research at IME-USP, for a period of up to two years.

More information,
access the QRCode

ime.usp.br/bolsa-yablonsky/